

Resources or sites that provide pre-existing data for students to use for doctoral projects

As you proceed through the DBA there will be requirements for research papers, using preexisting data allows you to cut time by not requiring interviews, surveys, and hours of correlation and compressing.

Assembled below are sites that can provide existing data in numerous areas:

100+ of the best data resources for your next project

50 Amazing free data sources you should know

Big Data: 33 Brilliant and Free Data Sources Anyone Can Use

Free Data Source: Crime

National Sex Offender Search: It is an unprecedented public safety resource that provides the public with access to sex offender data nationwide. It presents the most up-to-date information as provided by each Jurisdiction.

Free Data Source: Health

NHS Health and Social Care Information Centre: Health data sets from the UK National Health Service. The organization produces more than 260 official and national statistical publications. This includes national comparative data for secondary uses, developed from the long-running Hospital Episode Statistics which can help local decision makers to improve the quality and efficiency of frontline care.

Free Data Source: Financial and Economic Data

Financial Times: The Financial Times provides a broad range of information, news and services for the global business community.